Meta Rus

Meta Rus obtained her medical degree in 2020 from the Medical Faculty at the University of Ljubljana, Slovenia. She completed her internship at the University Medical Centre Ljubljana, followed by successfully passing the national medical examination. She temporarily worked in the Department of Palliative Care at the Institute of Oncology Ljubljana. Since 2023, she has been specializing family medicine in Slovenia.

In 2022, she completed a Master of Bioethics at KU Leuven, Belgium. Since then, she has been pursuing a PhD in medical ethics at the Medical Faculty of the University of Ljubljana. Her research project is titled "Ethical Aspects of Decision-Making About Limitation of Treatment Near End-of-Life in Adults at the Primary Healthcare Level."

Her bioethical interests include end-of-life care ethics, ethics in primary healthcare, vaccination ethics, ethics of care, empirical ethics methodology, and methods of teaching bioethics.